American Consul came on board this vessel the Consul had received a letter from the men for and on board of this vessel making complaint that they had been abused and was not allowed liberty on shore. All hands were mustered aft. The Consul listened to each mans statement and promised to see justice done. After having heard the statement on both side the Consul decided there was no just cause for taking any further steps in the matter that the Capt. must exercise his own judgment in regards to liberty as he had no authority to interfere in that respect Consul and Capt. were on shore & knew to duty the shore men that came on board at Barrow did sign the Article.
